Description

The enzyme encoded by this gene is an arylesterase that mainly hydrolyzes paroxon to produce p-nitrophenol. Paroxon is an organophosphorus anticholinesterase compound that is produced in vivo by oxidation of the insecticide parathion. Polymorphisms in this gene are a risk factor in coronary artery disease. The gene is found in a cluster of three related paraoxonase genes at 7q21.3.

Immunogen

Purified recombinant fragment of human PON1 (AA: 20-155) expressed in E. Coli.

Formulation

Ascitic fluid containing 0.03% sodium azide.

PON1 Antibody - Additional Information

Gene ID 5444

PON1 Antibody - Protein Information

Name PON1

Synonyms PON

Function

Hydrolyzes the toxic metabolites of a variety of organophosphorus insecticides. Capable of hydrolyzing a broad spectrum of organophosphate substrates and lactones, and a number of aromatic carboxylic acid esters. Mediates an enzymatic protection of low density lipoproteins against oxidative modification and the consequent series of events leading to atheroma formation.

Cellular Location

Secreted, extracellular space.

Tissue Location

Plasma, associated with HDL (at protein level). Expressed in liver, but not in heart, brain, placenta, lung, skeletal muscle, kidney or pancreas.
